From the outside, its khaki-coloured walls are not conspicuous, but the interior is heavily decorated with gorgeous Baroque styles, including staggered carved stone walls depicting the vaults and side altars of St. John's life scene. It is one of the most beautiful churches in Europe.

[Baraka Garden]

The Baraka Garden is the largest urban garden in Valletta, with up and down points. The Lower Baraka Garden is mainly a Roman-style marble temple. The main viewing point of Leta. The garden has tall arcades and huge arched windows that are full of momentum. The viewing platform has an excellent view of Valletta, the Grand Harbour and the Three Sisters City.

[Old mint street]

There are many steep slopes in the city of Valletta, and the Old Mint is one of the most distinctive ones, even printed on postcards. If there is no such steep slope and a shadow in Valletta, it will always feel like something less.

[Three sister city]

The Three Sisters City is a small town of Senglea, Vittoriosa and Cospicua. This is the birthplace of the Maltese civilization compared to the capital, Valletta.
