Plaza of Spain

Barcelona Olympic Stadium

Columbus Square

Carcassonne Castle

[Plaza of Spain]

Plaza de Espana - an important square in Barcelona, built for the 1929 World's Fair, at the foot of Montjuïc. It is one of the largest squares in Barcelona and is the intersection of several main roads.

[Barcelona Olympic Stadium]

The Barcelona Olympic Stadium is the venue for the 1992 Olympic Games, the most famous of which is the Olympic Ring.

[Columbus Square]

Columbus Square is one of the largest and most famous squares in Barcelona. It is close to Castile Avenue, surrounded by buildings and in a busy area. In the center of the square stands the statue of Columbus as a symbol of the 15th century Spanish maritime power.

[Carcassonne Castle]

The Carcassonne Castle has a long history and is a typical medieval European castle with a cylindrical shape and a conical tower on the roof, which is particularly eye-catching. Since ancient times, the rocky geological mountains along the ancient castle of Carcassonne have been regarded as strategic bases by military strategists. From the 1st century AD, it became the fortress city of ancient Rome. The Romans occupied it until 460 AD, and then the Visigoths seized it and ruled for two and a half centuries; around 725 AD, the Arabs captured and ruled the place until the ancient castle of Carcassonne in 759 AD. Return to the embrace of the Frankish kingdom.

Park Guell

Sagrada Familia

Cathedral of Our Lady of Bilal

[Park Guell]

Park Güell is one of the most dazzling sights in Barcelona and a masterpiece of garden design in Gaudí's many works. The artificial landscape here looks more natural than the natural landscape. The use of color and lines has also reached its peak. The entire city will be seen through the heights of the park.

[Sagrada Família]

Sacred House - Sagrada Família, a church group consisting of many spires and towers, a masterpiece by Gaudí, a famous Catalan architect. Originally built in 1884, the slender lines are the main feature, and the dome and interior structure show neo-gothic style.

[Cathedral of Our Lady of Bilal]

The sacred and magnificent Baroque cave-style Catholic cathedral, the splendid dome of the dome, the towering spires, the finest works of art are decorated with altars carved by plaster by the famous Spanish sculptor Fument in the 16th century.

Royal Palace of Madrid

Puerta del Sol

Plaza of Spain

[Royal Palace of Madrid]

Second only to the Palace of Versailles and Vienna's Schönbrunn Palace, the third largest palace in Europe. It is one of the most preserved and beautiful palaces in the world. The palace has a square structure and is magnificent. The palace houses numerous gold and silver utensils and paintings, porcelain, tapestries and other royal items. It is a representative cultural relic of Bourbon and is one of the best in the European palaces. Now, the palace has been turned into a museum for visitors to visit.

[Puerta del Sol]

Puerta del Sol is located in the centre of Madrid and is semi-circular with 10 streets extending radially outwards. The Security Bureau building is a prominent building in the square, a neoclassical palace-style building from the end of the 18th century. After its completion, it served as the central post office, army headquarters and political department of Madrid. Puerta del Sol is a historic square and a place that reflects the customs of Madrid.

[Plaza of Spain]

A large square and popular tourist destination in the heart of Madrid, on the western end of Gran Vía. The Royal Palace of Madrid is not far from the south side of the square. At the center of the square is the Miguel de Cervantes monument, including the Cervantes stone carving above, the Don Quixote and the Sanctuary Pansha bronze statue in front, and the two statues representing Don Quixote's true love. Stone statues: the ordinary village of Aunta Rothenso and the beautiful Dulcinea Del Toboso.

Belem Tower

Nautical monument

[Belem Tower]

Belém Tower is both a testimony to the glorious history of Portugal and a famous landmark in Lisbon. Built in 1500, the tower is more like an old castle, built entirely of white marble. Together with the Jeronimo Monastery, it is rated as one of the world's cultural heritage and one of Portugal's seven wonders.

[Nautical monument]

The nautical monument, located near the Belém Tower in Lisbon, was built to commemorate the 500th anniversary of the death of the navigator Henrique o Navegador (1394~1460). It is shaped like a ship with a giant sail. The monument is engraved with statues of Henry and 80 other sailors. The person standing on the bow is Henry, then his assistant is Gama, and on both sides are some voyagers who are accompanying the departure. The famous generals, missionaries and scientists in the history of Portugal are quite powerful in commemoration of Portugal's glorious history of pioneering the ocean for 300 years.
