Cesky Krumlov

Budweiser Town

[Cesky Krumlov]

Krumlov (also known as CK Town) is a peach blossom source in Europe, a small red town left by the Bohemian kingdom. Surrounded by the vast Vltava River, the castle-centered medieval city on the other side of the river valley is boundless, and the red tile houses are full of ups and downs. On the outskirts of the town, you can see the most obvious landmark of Krumlov, the castle tower.

[Budweiser Town]

Bujejovice is the capital of the Czech Republic of South Bohemia, the home of Budweiser, and the old town is full of wonderful Baroque architecture. Since the 13th century, the area has been known for brewing beer. Budweiser beer originated from it, so it is also known as Budweiser town. There is a charming medieval old town with a central square in the old town, surrounded by beautiful buildings of Baroque and Renaissance style. On both sides of the street are well-preserved medieval-style buildings that vary in shape and color but are coordinated.
